Death and Decolleté

How COLDS, GRIP
AND PNEUMONIA
PURSUE THE FASH-
IONABLE WOMEN
WHO INSIST ON
WEARING THE EX-
TREMELY LOW CUT
GOWNS.

*Mrs. "Phil"
Lydig of
New York's "400"
in a conspicuously
low-cut gown.*

WINTER has laid his cruel and icy grip upon the fairest part of New York society.

A remarkable number of the most attractive members of the fashionable set are laid up with grip, pneumonia and kindred ailments. Winter is really not so much to blame for this unhappy state of affairs as fashion. Fair woman ought to have learned by this time that if she leaves herself exposed to Winter, he will rudely seize the opportunity.

The truth is that the fashion in evening dress this year requires a decolleté effect so extreme that the wearer is rendered very liable to all kinds of diseases that begin with colds and chills. The decolletage before and behind is frequently so extensive as to bring nearly every vital organ within reach of the sudden deadly draughts that even the most exclusive leader of society must meet occasionally.

One of the most beautiful and distinguished society women who have been sitting of late is Mrs. Phil Lydig. If you cast an eye at her photograph you will behold the extreme example of the fashion that is spreading grip and pneumonia and other diseases. Probably Mrs. Lydig is proud of her back, and not without reason. Indeed, it is made the leading feature of the extraordinary and quite celebrated picture of her painted by Holton. But the weather is no respecter of beauty.

Mrs. "Phil" Lydig is famous for the audacity and originality of her clothes. On a recent opera night she wore a silver satin Princess gown made over white satin, the clinging folds garnished with bands of white satin. The corage was cut extremely low and two tiny strips of silver were passed over the shoulders. Her head and shoulders rising thus from the shimmering mass gave the effect of a mermaid rising from the sea—an effect that was startlingly accentuated by the fact that Mrs. Lydig wore no jewels on her neck or bosom.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor, generally considered the most beautiful woman in New York society, is another victim of fashion. She has been confined to her house on Fifth avenue with a severe attack of grip, and will have to spend the rest of the Winter in a warm climate.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, formerly Miss Alice Roosevelt, has been compelled to undergo an operation for appendicitis. It is known that her illness originated in a cold caught from exposure at an evening party.

Mrs. Euphrasia Fish, the brightest and witziest woman in New York society, is another of those who have been prostrated by the grip. Miss Emily Sloane, Mrs. Charles R. Huntington, Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, Miss Jeanie Roman Thompson and Mrs. Norman Whitehouse are a few of the many well-known society people who have fallen victims to fashion and the prevalent Winter diseases.

The most famous prime doctress of the grand opera have been laid up by ailments due to exposure to the rare wintry draughts. This is not surprising, since they surpass or equal the society leaders in the scantiness of their costumes. Miss Mary Garden, the beautiful soprano, has been stricken with rheumatism. No one who has seen her in the costume she wore as Traviata will be surprised at this unhappy occurrence. Miss Garden has a magnificent fig-

It was obvious that they represented volcanic rocks, which had been up by the action of the lava from the depths of the earth. When the stuff cooled the number of crystals was crystallized out by the form of crystals.

These crystals are very remarkable. They are lighter in color than those of Crystals, they are much more brilliant and more beautiful than the latter, and their color is a deep blue, which is very rare.

It was not until recently that discovery was made of certain underground excavations in New Mexico, about twenty miles from the city of Santa Fe, in which the same material was found in great quantities.

The Great "Slim Jim"—"Sawed Off" Puzzle—the Rebus of the Plug Hats. A Fine Piano and $50.00 in Cash for Those Who Can

Five quaint little men with different sized hats stand in line. No TWO MEN are the same height—but are any TWO HATS, either. Now, the PUZZLE is to change the FIVE HATS on the heads of the FIVE MEN so that the distance to the ground from the TOP of each man's hat will be just THE SAME. This is the great puzzle of the quaint little men, the funny "Slim Jims" and the "Sawed Offs"—the puzzle that has amazed and perplexed both old and young. If you can get the hats transferred so as to make the top of EACH the SAME height from the ground, call on some of your friends to help you. A big bonus of prizes, including a grand Upright Piano and just $50.00 in CASH awaits those who solve it in the correct or nearest correct, as well as the cleverest solutions. So, for yourself, get it hot of liberal prizes given below—which a prize of only 11 dollars will fairly award at the close of the contest, April 30, 1908, in the case of "Sawed Off" puzzle, and prize equally.

In the back they are carried down to the waist here. The lace waist worn underneath shows daintily through the openings in front. Foulard, cashmere, crepe de chine and linen are all suggested for the making. 1 1/2 yards of 27-inch material will be required for 36-inch bust measure. The smart over-bodice could be made like the design shown, or it could be more simply made. The front is laid in nine tucks and attached to a deep round yoke. The back has a group of tucks at each side that converge toward the waist line. The short, wide Japanese sleeves fall gracefully over the undersleeves of lace. Attractive developments may be had in taffeta, chiffon, or beaded voile, marquisette, mouseline and satin. For 36-inch bust measure 2 yards of 27-inch material will be required. These patterns have been cut to sizes 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36 and 42 inches bust, and will be mailed to any address if you will fill in the accompanying coupon and mail with 10 cents in silver or stamps to

Thomas Carlyle

It is indeed "the Night of the World." But the dawn is coming. It has been dimly perceptible for long years past. And it grows brighter with each year and each effort.

Thoughtful readers will study one by one the individual conquerors, each bearing a label, marching through the lane of human victims. And readers whose intellects plan for political action and social organization will concentrate their minds with intense interest on this

Teddy-B and Teddy-G; the Bear Detectives.

No. X.—Mystery of a Lost Boy. Verses by Seymour Eaton. Drawings by E. H. Twelveteetres

(Copyright, 1908, by Seymour Eaton.)

"And looked in dishes, tubs and pots."

"And under rugs and chairs and cots."

This story is told of a little lad,
The only boy his mother had,
Who hid himself one Christmas

Day
In an easy place and simple way
His mother hunted high and low
In every spot a lad could go.
Till all trace of him was gone,
She called up central on the 'phone
And asked for number nine-two-three.
The home of TEDDY-B and G.

"Hello, hello," Ted called,
"Hello, I say, I'm coming!"
Speak, loader, please! I'm here!"
TEDDY-G.

The same way as you see,
Yes, Mrs. Horner, just the way
Come over quick, Mr. B. B.,
Yes, yes, come quick, please, please!
Then TEDDY-G.

Was home, as you see,
Tell her, please, that I'm here,
Till we can get the things we need,
At the store, please, please, please,
With a big, big, big, big, big,
And this place is just the way,
And the place is just the way,
But TEDDY-B said,

"What's the matter, Ted?
Tell her, please, that I'm here,
Till we can get the things we need,
At the store, please, please, please,
With a big, big, big, big, big,
And this place is just the way,
And the place is just the way,
But TEDDY-B said,
And on the way he rinned a nose,
To see if he had gone to sleep,
Had started off quite soon,
To find a boy reported lost,
Or overcome with Winter's frost,
And if any caller came there,
Just watch the dinner, please, please!"

They asked Mrs. Horner about the boy,
It always goes, on every day,
His age and look, the clothes he wore,
And if she saw him on the way,
And if sometimes he stayed out late,
And about his dinner, now much he ate,
And if he did the things she said,
From breakfast time till he went to bed,
And then she showed his photograph.

"They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard."

They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard,
They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard,
They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard,
They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard.

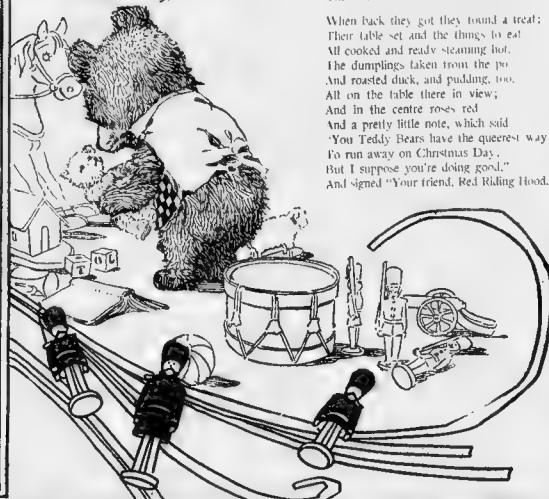

They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard,
They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard,
They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard,
They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard.

They then went out on wintry street
To look for marks of his little feet,
They found a snow-house in the yard,
With snow policemen there on guard,
And how they thought perhaps he'd be;

They asked the man to look for him,
He wasn't there; no more of him,
On any kind of boy, no more,
They stopped a way from the door,
Delivering groceries, fruit and meat,
And asked the man if any trace,
As round he went from place to place,
Of a little boy was in the snow.
But he shook his head to answer "No."
Then TEDDY-G proposed that they
Go search the barn and more of hay,
But 'twas no use; just as they started,
This lad had simply disappeared.
TEDDY-B said he would not give in,
He had never lost, and meant to win,
"If we should fail this time," said he,
"We'll spoil all Teddy history."

Back to the house again they went
To follow out another scent;
And the scent this time was a good supply

"Picked up a Teddy Bear to see
If the little woolly thing could say
Where his master went when he Walked away."

When back they got they found a treat;
Their table set and the things to eat,
All cooked and ready steaming hot,
The dumplings taken from the pot,
And roasted duck, and pudding, too,
All on the table there in view;
And in the centre roses red
And a pretty little note, which said
"You Teddy Bears have the queerest way
To run away on Christmas Day,
But I suppose you're doing good,"
And signed "Your friend, Red Riding Hood."

"A Christmas pie filled full with plums
And the little lad using both his thumbs."

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Daniel O'Reilly, of counsel for Harry Thaw, declared this afternoon that the story of Evelyn Thaw will again be told in public on the witness stand, in the trial of her husband for the killing of Stanford White, despite the objections of the District Attorney, on whose protest the trial was delayed until Monday.

O'Reilly was an early caller at the Tombs, and was also A. Russell Brown, author of Thaw's lawyers. Mr. O'Reilly was heard about the story Evelyn is to tell when the trial is resumed.

There is no doubt that Evelyn Thaw will testify in public next week," he said. "Harry Thaw is as anxious to have her relieved of this second ordeal as it is the story came out of the first trial that seems to be no more than a story which should be given privately."

Calis Jerome Incurable

Mr. O'Reilly said he did not believe Mr. Brown was altogether sincere in asking for private session of the court.

"He is my client and his wife would prefer to avoid being and I personally care for Mr. Brown's asking, said Mr. O'Reilly, who said the same matter, but the constitution of the State is not to be kept by me. I state that I believe there is still possibility of Justice. I have offered a private hearing. Mr. Brown Thaw went to the Tombs yesterday at noon today and had in his cell with her son and daughter.

He was told the orders of the physical and he said that Mrs. W. M. Thaw left a note at her husband's house and gave to the Prisoner, to pay to Mr. Brown. The first that she has heard in many months.

Mother Visits Prisoner

She went in an auto, which moved at an early hour in order that it might be seen by the public. A trial was to be held with difficulty at the Court side door of the prison and the mother of the prisoner and the father of the prisoner arrived for her husband's trial. She was seen by the public and she was seen by the public.

Thaw Defies Jerome

He said he believed that the jury would be made up of men and women who would be fair and just.

"I am not going to be afraid to go to the witness stand," he said. "I am not going to be afraid to go to the witness stand."

Admiral Dowling

Justice Dowling was very wise when he refused to rule on Mr. Jerome's motion to shut off Evelyn's story without a preliminary hearing. The preliminary hearing was held and the jury was sworn in. The trial was resumed on Monday.

Talks on Teeth

By G. GORDON MARTIN (Incorporated)

Thousands Endorse Alveolar Teeth

The year 1907 marked the largest water mark in the growth of this great dental business.

The increase over previous years was nothing short of phenomenal. Patients from every State in the Union and from Canada are to-day enjoying the blessing of sound, healthy teeth, and have been enabled with partial plate teeth, which are a nuisance, or teeth set on "bridges," which were not a nuisance, but a constant torture as well.

The Alveolar Method of supplying missing teeth without plates or ordinary bridge work is rapidly driving all other methods. Teeth put in the month by this method are in to-day, solid, beautiful, and best of all—natural looking and acting—teeth which can be distinguished from the natural nature given in the gums in the beginning.

You can eat with intent, and chew your food as nature intended, grinding it up so it enters the stomach in proper shape to be assimilated.

How many are mis-taken, and what substitutes are you using for those that are missing?

Have you "impression"? There are the questions you would do to answer if you will come to one of our offices, or write for particulars.

The teeth deserve to be taken care of. If they are not in good order the stomach will revolt, and then look out for trouble.

From a number of recent letters we have received many testimonials of the following, which is a fair sample of those which come to us from every mail.

Sept. 20th 1907. G. Gordon Martin, Esq., Berkeley, Calif.
